

April 21, 2010

Dear Family,

I am completely and utterly blown away by the love and support shown to our family over the past couple of days.

There are many more rough days ahead for our family and it is only by the Grace of God and the people of our community that will help get us through this. Thank you.

As Jorge has worked to keep everyone informed everyone knows that John is at home, in fact I was told that he actually went to school this morning. I stayed in Greenville with Amanda with the thought that she would be coming home this afternoon. We have had a minor set back in that when she goes to sleep her oxygen levels drop off. The doctor decided to keep her one more night. If everything goes well tonight then she will be released in the morning.

Thank you

Lori Mills